APPROACH

THE OBJECTIVE: INCREASE USERS

Our challenge was to increase digital subscriptions in the US at an efficient cost per subscription & convert readers using free access to content online, thereby increasing users who subscribe to the Boston Global digital offering.

THE CHALLENGE: UNDERSTANDING THE IMPACT OF LANDING PAGES ON SALES

We focused on creative strategy & landing page testing to drive incremental subscribers & test the overall impact on subscription conversion rates. We hypothesized that empathetic & culturally relevant creative messaging & content driven landing pages may outperform price discounts.

OUR APPROACH: TEST & LEARN VIA SOCIAL & CONTENT

- ✓ Utilize social & display channels to increase customer acquisition volume through paid media.
- ✓ Setup A/B testing across the campaign to create a stable environment in which to test the landing pages & determine success based on the best conversion rate.
- ✓ Observed the role of content in relation to conversion rates for specific channel.

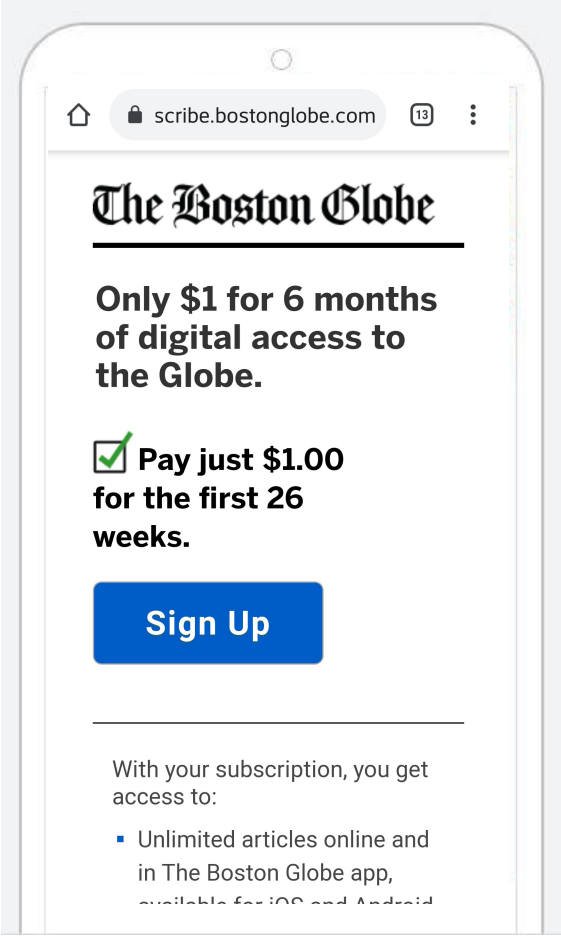
UNDERSTANDING THE IMPACT OF CONTENT

The Boston Globe

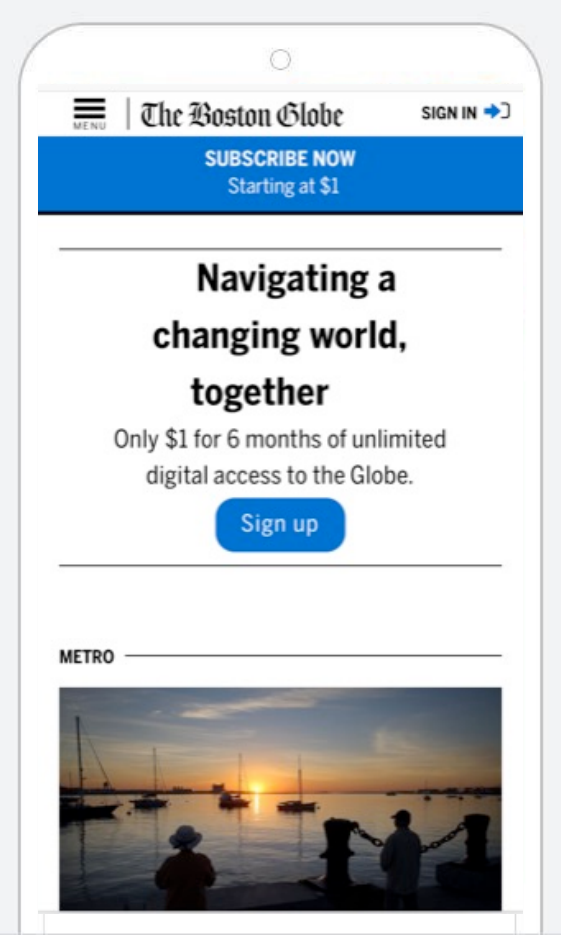
OFFER LANDING PAGE



This landing page featured solely the promotion and may attract price-conscious users. With less text on the page a user was given the optimal chance to make a purchase decision and faced very little distraction.

THE HYPOTHESIS: because this landing page features the promotion only, it attracts price-conscious users. While an offer is a powerful way to hook prospects it may not have as high of a conversion rate compared to a content first strategy.

CONTENT LANDING PAGE



The content landing page featured leaderboard Subscribe Now button and a more empathetic headline. It illustrated an appealing offer, but users could engage with content and view headlines. The Metro, Nation, and Sports section were visibly positioned when scrolling.

THE HYPOTHESIS: users will be prompted to explore the site content, providing the opportunity to engage with the brand in a relatable way. This will entice the audience with headlines and may have a positive impact on subscription rate.

Improvement in Cost per Subscription

LEARNINGS

- Optimizing investment on social and native channels lead to a steady trend of increased subscription volume at a more efficient Cost per Subscription.
- Tailored landing pages resulted in more efficient CPS and stronger user acquisition
- Observed a 29% lower CPS when driving native ads to the content landing page
- Contrary to the native ads, on social media customers were more price sensitive and the offer page drove a 17% lower CPS
