RAKUTEN REWARDS, TIKTOK INFLUENCER CAMPAIGN

Rakuten Rewards became an M&C Saatchi Performance client during 2021, the company is one of the leading Cash Back shopping affiliates in the USA.

Our brief is to drive incremental app installs and new member sign-ups to Rakuten Rewards. We were challenged to drive success despite the significant changes to measurement and privacy brought on by Apple's 14.5 iOS update.

Our strategy was to work with micro-influencers, using TikTok to drive organic reach initially, then (using the most successful organic content), amplify the results through paid TikTok media.

OUR APPROACH

THE BRIEF:

Help position Rakuten Rewards as the leading Cash Back and rewards app in the USA, driving incremental app installs and new member sign-ups.

THE CHALLENGE:

With 70% of users on iOS, Rakuten needed to identify channels that would continue to reach its core audience while still being able to measure success around iOS 14.5+ limitations.

THE STRATEGY:

We identified and partnered with 22 micro-influencers to develop content that would be posted to their channels and appear organically in users' feeds. The idea was to drive low level awareness initially to enable us to understand which content was most likely to perform effectively with paid media behind it.

After 2 weeks, we identified the top-viewed and most engaging videos to enable the launch of a paid media campaign on TikTok that was trackable on SKAdNetwork.

THE CAMPAIGN

In this campaign Rakuten partnered with 22 micro-influencers whose native content represented key shopping categories on the app – e.g. Fashion, Beauty, Kids, Travel, etc.

The influencers were asked to download the app, log in, and scroll through stores they were interested in – showing the flow of how much cash back could be earned within the video they created.

The influencers provided recommendations in their own style which resonated with the TikTok community.

The best performing organic content was then promoted using paid media in TikTok in order to succeed the campaign KPI's.
