COMIXOLOGY:
TIKTOK CONTENT CREATOR CAMPAIGN

comixology

Comixology is an Amazon subsidiary with a library of over 100,000 comic books, graphic novels, and manga available on iOS, Android, Kindle, and website for customers to purchase. They also offer a subscription service, Comixology Unlimited, which provides access to a wide range of titles across many different genres.

M&C Saatchi Performance have been working with Comixology since 2020, managing performance media including Facebook, Instagram, Google Search, and Google App Campaigns. Our goals are to drive app downloads, individual purchases, and Comixology Unlimited subscriptions.

Part of our long-term strategy was to test new channels, with TikTok being a top priority due to its inherent contextual alignment. This specific campaign was designed to work with content creators and utilize buzz surrounding New York Comic Con to drive new users to Comixology Unlimited.

The experience of the M&C Saatchi Performance team was essential. They worked closely with the client to select appropriate content creators, agree on their content direction (Comixology has a highly passionate following due to the nature and subject matter of comics, manga and gaming) and remain within brand guidelines. The content creators were briefed to develop engaging content that their followers would love and encouraged followers to become Comixology Unlimited subscribers. The content was planned to run organically initially, to gather baseline performance benchmarks, and then was boosted during the holidays with paid media using Spark Ads.

A HIGHLY STRATEGIC APPROACH

comixology

THE BRIEF:

Leverage content creators to develop TikTok videos that drive awareness and engagement for Comixology Unlimited.

THE CHALLENGE:

Driving awareness and distinguishing the brand from competitors during Comic Con

Ensuring content created was brand safe, appropriate, engaging, and delivered key messages in an authentic and endemic way.

THE STRATEGY:

TikTok is a popular channel amongst comic/manga enthusiast who are seeking engaging and relevant content.

Content creators are skilled individuals who develop unique content that informs and entertains their followers.

It was critically important to find the right creators to work with as comic books have highly passionate fans who connect strongly with certain IP and titles carried by Comixology.

The team selected 7 content creators, who had a strong following within the comics, manga, gaming, and wrestling communities. This was also specific to creators who had a following in the US. Through different rounds of concepting and video production feedback the M&C Saatchi Performance team ensured that all published videos met the campaign brief and was appropriate for the brand.
